DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant is advised that should claim 1 be found allowable, claim 21 will be objected to under 37 CFR 1.75 as being a substantial duplicate thereof. When two claims in an application are duplicates or else are so close in content that they both cover the same thing, despite a slight difference in wording, it is proper after allowing one claim to object to the other as being a substantial duplicate of the allowed claim. See MPEP § 706.03(k).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 3. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roby et al (U.S. Patent 6,287,499 B1) in combination with Harris (U.S. Patent 4,209,476 A) for the reasons of record.

Roby et al teaches releasing all tension on the extrudate after the second puller and prior to allowing the extrudate to cool to room temperature (see col. 4, lines 13-19 of Roby et al).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed on 10 December 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

5. Applicant argues (page 6) that Roby et al does not teach completely releasing the tension prior to cooling because while the third roller of Roby et al may run at a slower speed than the second roller, the third roller is still pulling the filament and therefore is maintaining tension on the filament, which is specifically excluded from the claims. Examiner responds that Roby et al does teach completely releasing the tension prior to cooling because the third roller is running at a slower speed than the second roller, which allows the filament to relax (or shrink), which would not be possible if the filament were under tension between the second and third rollers (see col. 4, lines 13-19 of Roby et al).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
